San Gabriel Unified to Host STEM Symposium for Local Educators

WHAT: San Gabriel Unified's McKinley Elementary, home to a comprehensive science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) program, will host its first-ever STEM symposium for local teachers, directors and administrators.

The symposium – Inspiring and Developing the Builders of Tomorrow – will show teachers how to operate the tools and technology often used to aid STEM instruction.

WHEN: Saturday, Oct. 21
8:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m.

WHERE: McKinley Elementary School
1425 Manley Drive, San Gabriel

DETAILS: The symposium, sponsored by Lego Education, will provide hands-on workshops highlighting STEM, coding and robotics instruction for kindergarten through eighth-grade students. Teachers will also learn how to operate Lego robots and other technological tools that supplement STEM instruction.

The event is free to K-12 educators in the San Gabriel Valley. Lunch will be provided. Contact Jackie Avakian, avakian\_j@sgusd.k12.ca.us for more information.
